Headset Installation
First time users of Rosetta Stone will need to set up their respective headsets and microphone. It is recommended that users use a USB headset with a built-in microphone. (note: USB headsets are available for general checkout from the circulation desk) Select the First Time Users option once logged into Rosetta Stone and select Check System Readiness. Once your operating system has been confirmed select the Home tab to return to the Rosetta Stone main page.

1. During set-up you’ll be prompted with a Microphone Selection dialog box.

2. Select the USB headset and select Continue. (note: select refresh list if your connected device is not available.)

3. Follow the setup prompt and speak into the microphone.

4. Select the Audio Settings option if your microphone is not active.

Adobe Flash Player Settings
Rosetta Stone requires the Adobe Flash player engine to have access to your camera/microphone. If this is your first time using Rosetta Stone please select the following options to allow resourse.rosettastone.com to access your camera and microphone:

1. Select the Allow option for microphone.
2. Select the Remember option for future uses of this product